The School I Will Never Forget

Have you ever wondered if there was a school with hardly any bullies, strong education, and inspiring teachers? Luckily, I have the honor to attend this kind of school. The school is named Prince of Peace Catholic School. My school is not a public school where you are a little fish in a big pond. It is a place where you receive powerful education and you grow closer to God. I have attended Prince of Peace since K4, or six years. I am confident this school is the right fit for me. Prince of Peace has helped me develop in maturity, prepared me for high school, and has helped guide me closer to God.

Prince of Peace has helped me grow more mature. At the beginning of the academic year, I would scream and grow furious if someone falsely accused me of something. Then my teacher, Mrs. Winebarger, advised me to calm down and breathe. Now in May, I rarely lose my temper. I am blessed to have several teachers who constantly remind me of healthy social habits.

Prince of Peace has helped me prepare for high school and college. In second grade, I learned to multiply whole numbers. I was amazed to discover that my father learned to multiply whole numbers in fourth grade! Now, a second grader is learning how to multiply fractions! I will always feel more advanced, which will give me more opportunities for success.

While at Prince of Peace, I have been drawn closer to God each and every day. This has been the most important thing to me. One way I grow in knowledge of the Lord is through our religion class. Because of the class, my knowledge has increased greatly in many areas of my religion. I did not know that Moses' wife was named Zepporah, or that St. Juan Diego saw a vision of Mary. I was pleasantly surprised to know that there are miracles associated with Our Lady of Guadalupe's eyes. We are also learning Latin prayers such as the Ave Maria (Hail Mary) and the Pater Noster (Our Father). These prayers will help me participate in Mass. All of this will help me educate my own children one day in the Catholic faith. I am confident I will be a strong Catholic as an adult because I've received a strong foundation as a child.

Overall, Prince of Peace has helped me behave more like an adult, will help me pass through the more difficult grades with ease, and strengthen my bond with Christ. Sacrificing much money, my parents prepared a better future for me. Because of Prince of Peace, which is the best school I have attended, my future has been changed because of its strong curriculum and excellent teachers. This truly is a school that I will never forget.
